THE EDMUNDS ACT IN HAWAII

Mission of Breckons and Hendry to the Volcano Island.

HILLO, July 15.—Mrs. A. Hastings arrived from Honolulu on the Kinau, last week, and went to the Volcano House to rest, accompanied by her daughter. On Saturday evening, Dr. Stow received a telephone message asking him to meet Mrs. Hastings at the train on Sunday morning as she was not very well and was returning to Hilo. Dr. Stow met her and took her to the hospital where she will remain for a few days, resting quietly. There is nothing serious the matter, but a physician's advice was deemed preferable, by Mrs. Hastings, to consultation by mail.

Yesterday afternoon there was a baseball game between the Hilos and the H. A. C.'s, the former winning by a score of 9 to 2. A letter has been received here from the Honolulu C. A. C.'s thanking the people of Hilo for their courtesy to the team and for the opportunity afforded them of coming here.

The Board of License Commissioners has, quietly and quickly, at its second session completed all business for this end of Hawaii. The next session will be held at Kailua, North Kona, on August 3.

Members of the N. G. H. will begin practice shooting tomorrow, to select the best men to go to the National shootfest in Ohio.

Another important sale of Territorial land will be held here on Thursday morning. The property offered consists of twenty lots of first-class agricultural land at Kaiwika III, South Hilo. The size of the lots ranges from 26 3/4 to 32 acres each, and the up-set prices from $745 to $935, about $30 an acre.

The steamer Likelike will arrive here this afternoon with Hilo's consignment of the long delayed Kumeric immigrants.

The new pineapple factory began working at its full capacity this morning both in making tins and preserving and canning the fruit. An output of 4000 cases, worth $12,500, is expected for the first season's run.

District Attorney Breckons, who arrived on Sunday morning by the Claudine, left for the Volcano House in the afternoon accompanied by Miss Breckons. The United States Marshal, E. R. Hendry, remains here with interpreter Leo Joe. It is reported that his friend, Mr. Edmunds, is interested in at least one case here, also that the further circulation of spurious half-eagles, one of which was offered at the First Bank of Hilo last week, is keeping the Marshal busy.

HAPPENINGS AT THE PENINSULA

THE PENINSULA, July 18.—As a resort, the Peninsula is getting to be quite popular. Last Sunday, three separate parties came over from Honolulu in yachts and on the train to spend the day. The Hawaii brought one party and the Kamehameha another. Over twenty persons came on this yacht and enjoyed the day, playing ball in the park adjoining the pavilion.

The third party came by train, and their rendezvous was the Colburn place; a large number of High School alumni and pupils coming over. The party took the late train to town.

Sharks have been seen quite frequently of late in the loch nearest the Park. Last week, Captain Pahia, of the rice schooner Kailani, which plys between Waiau and Honolulu reported that he had witnessed a battle between a turtle and a shark in the vicinity of the buoy. He says that the water for quite a little distance was covered with blood. Which of the combatants was victorious, the captain could not say as the Kailani took advantage of a sudden puff of wind which came up at the time.

On Monday, while fishing in the same loch, some Japanese fishermen hooked a large shark. While making a last effort for life, as he was being pulled out of the water, the shark succeeded in pulling the line out of the men's hands, and nearly dragging one of the number in after him. While the same shark has not been seen again, the Japs say that they have noticed many others in the same locality, but have not been able to catch any of them. With a large hook in his mouth the shark would probably have little chance to live, and the other sharks which the fishermen claim to have seen, probably were attracted thither to feast on their companion's carcass.

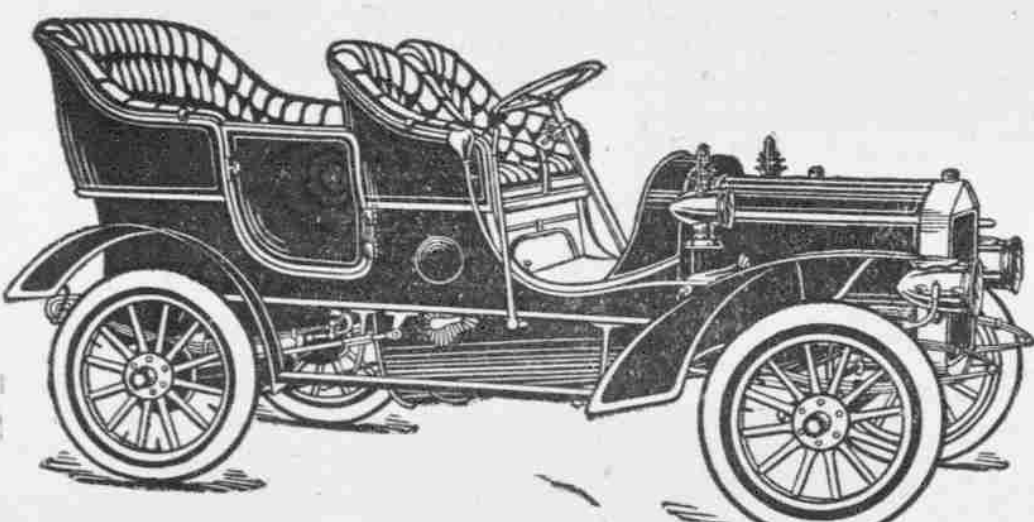

A number of yachts are anchored out in the harbor. The Skip is off of the yacht club's pier, while the Kapolei, the Myrtle and the Clytie, are at caretaker Schwank's place. La Paloma has been at her owner's pier for some time, but on Wednesday morning, she left for Honolulu.

A number of townspeople are here on a vacation. Among them are the Rev. Mr. Wadman who is staying here with his daughter, Marguerite. Rev. A. V. Soares and family are at their summer home, "Urzalina." Judge Whitney and his wife are staying at their father's place. Both Dr. and Mrs. Whitney are with them. Mr. W. W. Hall, accompanied by his family, is at "Anuenue," their summer home. As the Peninsula is but a scant thirteen miles from Honolulu, a number of people who are working during the summer, find that they can still get a partial vacation, by going to and coming from town every day on the train. Fred. Macfarlane's new house is rapidly nearing completion. Painters are applying the first coat of paint. The house bids fair to be one of the handsomest in the Peninsula.

GIRLS' REFORMATORY AND ITS MANY NEEDS

Editor Advertiser.—From an editor's point of view, regarding the "loose joints" to be seen there, in the midst of abounding good work and really beautiful housekeeping.

1. A light should be kept burning all the night.

2. No girl should be left in a "cell" after bed-time; or, during the day without the key being in the door outside.

3. A couple of good dogs might not be out of place, if chained.

4. Matron herself and teachers, and "trusties" (reliable girls), to sleep downstairs in close proximity to outside entrances.

With perhaps a duplicate key around the neck.

5. Doors and windows upstairs, in the dormitory, to be kept unlocked and to have a few fire-escapes on the building.

The story is very high and the building not of concrete, as is the prison.

6. There are forty-five girls and it is vain to say that children "will obey orders" in case of any pilikia. Even grown men will not. How quickly does a building fill with smoke often—smoke that is known to confuse and turn the brain in a few minutes.

And we all know what the term "panic" implies.

With the guarding downstairs instead of up, the reformatory as it is at present could be easily emptied out if imperative.

And did any girl escape from the windows, how easily she would be recaptured!

While we need always reformatories somewhat, we must not give to them the color and habit of the prison. We understand that this "reforming" can be no easy work. But if love and patience and sometimes, a spice of wholesome neglect, will not do the work, it should go at that.

ANNE M. PRESCOTT.

P. S.—As for earthquake it is to be hoped, and hardly probable from what we know, that there is need to attend to that.
